

This table provides an illustration of terms & conditions our members work to.

As guides are self-employed, each will set their own rates.

Valid from 1st April 2021

Please note that to keep the indicative pricing competitive morning tours will normally need to finish by 13:00 and afternoon tours start after 13:30.

The fees negotiated will vary from client to client and from guide to guide. Higher rates may be requested for example maybe above the ranges suggested, for customised tours, or tours that require a good deal of preparation or specialist knowledge, due to a client's or tour operator's specific requirements.

TOURING

Clients should expect to pay the same level of daily remuneration for extended tours as for single days which require a maximum of 9 hours a day guiding. Extra amounts will normally be charged if the hours of work exceed 9 hours in a day. Guides will normally expect to be provided with all meals, or alternatively with suitable expenses in lieu over and above the daily fee. They are also entitled to expect that suitable overnight accommodation, in a single room, will be provided or the costs of obtaining such a room will be reimbursed.

SPECIALIST MUSEUM/GALLERY GUIDING SERVICES

Where guides undertake specialist half-day museum or gallery visits it is usual for a full-day fee to be payable.

CANCELLATIONS

In the event of cancellation, clients should expect to pay the following cancellation charges:

- 50% of the negotiated fee for cancellation 7 days or less before the engagement
- 100% of the negotiated fee for cancellation within 48 hours of the engagement

Similarly, when an extended engagement tour is cancelled with less than one month's notice, the guide is entitled to claim 50% of the daily touring rate if alternative work on the same dates is not offered.

Where a guide has received payment in advance, either in part or in full, and is unable to fulfil the engagement the client should contact the guide to discuss repayments or replacement guide.

NOTES

Additional increments of 50% may be requested for tours involving Double Decker Coaches and for coaches with more than 55 passengers. In the interests of safety a single guide should not be expected to conduct visits to sites if the group to be guided exceeds 50 (in such cases, a 2nd Guide should be engaged).

Often individual sites will restrict the number of visitors they permit to enter their premises in a group, similarly some sites impose restrictions on where guides may talk to clients. If the proposed programme is fully discussed in advance with the guide concerned they should be able to provide advice on where such restrictions may be an issue requiring additional guides or alternative solutions

Guides will normally charge a 50% increment for tours taking place on the English public holidays of Good Friday, Easter Sunday, Easter Monday, Boxing Day, and New Year's Day. Tours taking place on Christmas Day usually attract an increment of 100%.

All vouchers, or cash, to cover all disbursements the guide is required to make during the tour should be provided to the guide before the start of the tour by the tour operator.

Travelling expenses (including parking fees etc.) incurred by the Guide required to collect groups from airports and locations outside of their main area should be covered by the client. In the interests of their personal safety, if guides are required to be in place to start a tour at very early times / finish late (e.g. outside of 07:00AM or after 23:00) and travel by public transport is not suitable, guides will expect to be reimbursed the cost of taxi fares.

On a coach tour there must be a seat provided for the guide, with a safety belt, and a working microphone and PA system. If there is no working microphone / PA system provided, the operator will be informed as soon as possible by the Guide. If the tour continues without a working microphone the norms for the industry indicate the guide is entitled to be paid an increment of 100% of the original fee until the omission is rectified.

Properly presented invoices should be submitted by the Guide, to the client, at the conclusion of each engagement. Invoices should separate fees from claims for disbursements, which must be properly itemised and have receipts attached where appropriate. Full settlement is usually expected within 28 days of the invoice being submitted. From time to time, guides may agree additional Terms & Conditions with clients.
